Divorce: I have instituted and defended multiple actions for divorce over 15 years. I have litigated all the grounds for divorce; pled affirmative defenses; and successfully defended grounds for divorce. I have handled many divorces between parties who were residing over seas. I have dealt with the Hague Convention regarding service of process for divorce actions involving other countries.

Equitable Division of Property: Most of my divorce actions involve equitable division to some degree. I have handled complex estates and simple estates. I am familiar with the complex areas of law involving equitable division such as federal taxation, business valuations, ERISA, QDRO's and division of different types of retirement plans. My admission to the AAML affords me the use of national expertise in these areas as well. I have utilized financial experts and consultants in this area as well. I am familiar with transmutation. I have tried many equitable division and settled many through mediation as well.

Child Custody: This is my preferred choice of litigation. Many of my cases overlap with custody and equitable division issues, but many are also solely based on child related issues, such as parties that were never married but had children. I have handled all types of cases involving children including visitation, custody, interstate custody, and all ancillary aspects of a custody case. I have utilized experts and have served as a Guardian. I have had several trials involving custody. Most of my custody cases have had successful endings. I have drafted forms and information for clients and prospective clients regarding custody. I spend hours studying about child cases and the law both local and nationally. I participate in mediation and arbitration regarding custody issues. I am familiar with the local experts and Guardians and have an good working relationship with them.

Adoption: I have handled many step-parent adoption cases or relative adoption cases. I have handled a few contested adoption cases including a current case the details of which I would like to protect.

Abuse and Neglect: I have been appointed in these cases for children and I have volunteered for adult APS cases when DSS was no longer allowed to appoint attorneys for APS cases. I teach CLEs on abuse and neglect and have good working knowledge of the statutes and procedures.

Juvenile Justice: I have not represented a juvenile. My practice and experience in family courts, along with my ability to understand our statutory law will be a great benefit for me to transition into Juvenile work from the bench.

16. What was the frequency of your court appearances during the last five years?
- (a) federal: 0%;
 - (b) state: 100%.
17. What percentage of your practice involved civil, criminal, domestic, and other matters during the last five years?
- (a) civil: 0%;
 - (b) criminal: 0%;
 - (c) domestic: 100%;
 - (d) other: 0%.
18. What percentage of your practice in trial court during the last five years involved matters that went to a jury, including those that settled prior to trial?
- (a) jury: 0%;
 - (b) non-jury: 100%.

Did you most often serve as sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel in these matters? Sole counsel or lead counsel.

19. List five of the most significant litigated matters you have personally handled in either trial or appellate court or before a state or federal agency. Give citations if the cases were reported and describe why these matters were significant.
- (a) Pincus v. South Beach Marina, et al. This case was significant because it was the first trial of my legal career and I handled it as sole counsel. It was a civil case, jury trial that lasted 5 days. I prepared everything on this case from the pleadings to my closing argument. Opposing counsel was highly experienced and had a team of support staff assisting him. I won a jury verdict which included punitive damages for the civil tort of intentional interference with a contract.
 - (b) Courtenay v. Courtenay. This was my first multi-day custody case as a family law practitioner lasting 5 days. The case was important because I represented the father seeking custody of his 3 daughters. He was in the military and stationed in Germany throughout the proceeding. If he prevailed, it would mean the children would leave the US to live with their father in Germany. The mother had been the primary caretaker. The judge believed the best interest of the children would be served if my client were the custodial parent and my client and his daughters moved to Germany. The significance of this case to me was that my client had to overcome a primary caretaker mom and an international relocation. It was also my first exposure to expert witnesses and expert testimony by a psychological expert.
 - (c) Dewitt v. Riley (can we leave these names out of the public transcript?). This case is a custody case that I considered very significant. I represented the mother who was trying to regain custody of her daughter from a third party. She lost custody through a DSS abuse and neglect case because of her crack cocaine addiction. She spent several years rehabilitating herself and saving money for an attorney. She used all of the available state resources to help her with rehabilitation and employment. She even won an award through her state job project that paid her Guardian ad litem fees as her prize. This is one of my happiest cases in family court and a wonderful example of a mother working for her second chance and getting it. Mother and daughter are reunited and thriving.
 - (d) Duncan v. Duncan. This was a custody and equitable division case involving a military Father and a Mother with a cocaine addiction. Father was awarded temporary custody during the litigation due to Mother's chronic drug use and ultimately won custody at the trial. This was significant to me because I was able to successfully argue against dividing Father's military retirement benefits with Mother due to Mother's lack of support for him and child during marriage and failure to enter evidence into the record regarding the valuation of such benefits.

It was also significant because it was the first case that I used to train my associate attorneys to litigate by delegating tasks to them including examination of certain witnesses and trial preparation. Mentoring these associates was incredibly rewarding.

- (e) Moore v. Massey, Hine and Henderson. This action involved the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act (UCCJEA). It was significant because I not only enjoy the challenge of interstate, complex matters, but it involved a child wrongfully taken from his caretaker and his home state of Tennessee. I prevailed in SC and the child was returned to TN.

20. List up to five civil appeals you have personally handled. Give the case name, the court, the date of decision, and the citation if the case was reported. If you are a candidate for an appellate court judgeship (please attach one copy of briefs filed by you in each matter).

- (a) Curlin v. Curlin—case number 99-DR-40-5289. This was a no fault divorce action. I was the Defendant. We had no children, property, assets or debt to divide. It was a simple divorce. The Final Decree was filed on January 7, 2000.
 - (b) Sligh v. Hampton, Monge, Shupe & Curlin, LLC. This plaintiff attended a real estate closing at my office and tripped walking in the entranceway. This case settled and was disposed of on 3/5/04.

This lawsuit was filed against me personally by my previous partners in Palmetto Law Group, LLC. They sought declaratory relief that I was not a member of the firm. I defended this suit and an Order was entered on April 13, 2004 finding that I was a member of the law firm; the Plaintiffs were sanctioned; the Plaintiffs damaged me and the company in an amount in excess of $400,000; and other specific relief spelled out in the order. I was awarded damages exceeding $400,000, including my attorney's fees. I was appointed as the Receiver to wind up the business of Palmetto Law Group. One of the Plaintiffs is disbarred. I am not sure the status of the other.

- (b) I volunteer for Meals on Wheels
50. Provide any other information that may reflect positively or negatively on your candidacy, or which you believe should be disclosed in connection with consideration of you for nomination for the position you seek.
- My devotion to family law and my family court experience should reflect positively on my candidacy and will be an asset to my judgeship. This is the only type of law I practice and my practice is large. My firm sees 400-600 people each year that are facing family court issues. These consultations have given me extensive insight to what the people of this State think about our family court system and what they are most concerned about when bringing their cases before a judge. This insight will be beneficial to me as a Family Court Judge. I also spend many hours keeping abreast of the law, attending family law CLE's, attending national and statewide conventions to enhance my skills and knowledge of family law and reviewing marital litigation reference books. My vast courtroom experience arguing motions and trying cases will be an asset to me as a Family Court Judge. Additionally, my practical application of the Family Court Rules, the Rules of Civil Procedure, and the Rules of Evidence on a near daily basis are an asset to my candidacy.
- I have above-average experience in this area of law. I am not seeking this judgeship simply to be "a judge"—I only want to be a Family Court Judge. I promote the profession of family law to the public through speaking and my radio show; to young lawyers through mentoring and offering law clerk positions; and to my peers by teaching CLEs and participating in many networking events. I support the Bar through volunteer, charitable giving and active participation. I am a certified Guardian ad Litem and a Certified Family Court Mediator. My life's experiences as a child of divorce and a step-mother affect how I practice family law and influence me with not only with my commitment to family law as a practitioner, but my desire to serve as a Family Law Judge.
